India-Nepal: India's Changing Equations during Pandemic times

Speaker: Dr. Peu Ghosh, Associate Professor of Political Science, Lady Brabourne College

On February 26, 2023, the Department of Political Science at New Alipore College organized a seminar on "India-Nepal: India's changing Equations during pandemic." The seminar aimed to provide a platform for scholars, researchers, and students to discuss and analyze the recent developments in India-Nepal relations amid the COVID-19 pandemic. The talk was delivered by Dr. Peu Ghosh, Associate Professor of Political Science at Lady Brabourne College.

Dr. Ghosh's talk focused on the recent developments in India-Nepal relations, mainly the impact of the pandemic on the bilateral relationship. She began her talk by highlighting the historical context of India-Nepal relations, tracing back to the 1950 Treaty of Peace and Friendship. She emphasized the importance of respecting Nepal's sovereignty and urged the Indian government to refrain from interfering in its internal affairs.

Dr. Ghosh then went on to discuss the impact of the pandemic on India-Nepal relations. She argued that while the pandemic had led to increased cooperation between the two countries in some areas, such as the repatriation of stranded citizens, it had also exposed the fragility of their relationship. She highlighted the recent tensions between the two countries, mainly due to the Indian government's interference in Nepal's internal affairs.

Dr. Ghosh also discussed the recent border dispute between India and Nepal, which began with India's construction of a road through the disputed Kalapani area. She argued that the dispute had strained the bilateral relationship and called for a diplomatic solution. She also highlighted the need for increased people-to-people ties between India and Nepal beyond diplomatic relations.

The talk was followed by a lively Q&A session, where the participants engaged in a debate on the seminar's theme. The discussion touched upon various issues, including the need for strengthening people-to-people ties, the role of non-state actors in India-Nepal relations, and the significance of the border dispute.

In conclusion, the seminar on “India-Nepal: India’s changing Equations during pandemic” organized by the Department of Political Science at New Alipore College, and delivered by Dr. Peu Ghosh, provided a valuable platform for scholars, researchers, and students to discuss and analyze the recent developments in India-Nepal relations. The talk highlighted the need for respecting Nepal’s sovereignty and urged the Indian government to refrain from interfering in its internal affairs. Dr. Ghosh also emphasized the need for increased people-to-people ties between India and Nepal beyond diplomatic relations.

The Department of Sanskrit at New Alipore College organized a seminar on “Nyayavaisesikanaye Padarthalakshanavicara” on 15th March 2023. The talk was delivered by Prof. Sujit Das, a renowned scholar in Sanskrit and Philosophy.

The seminar began with an introduction to Nyayavaishesika Philosophy, one of the six orthodox schools of Hindu philosophy. Prof. Das explained that Nyayavaishesika Philosophy deals with the study of ontology and epistemology and provides a systematic analysis of the nature of reality. He then went on to discuss the concept of Padartha, which refers to the categories or the fundamental constituents of reality ac-ording to this philosophy.

Prof. Das explained that there are seven Padarthas according to Nyayavaishesika Philosophy, namely, Dravya (substance), Guna (quality), Karma (action), Samanya (universal), Vishesha (particular), Samavaya (inherence), and Abhava (negation). He provided a detailed explanation of each of these Padarthas and their characteristics.

The seminar was attended by students and faculty members from the Department of Sanskrit as well as other departments. The attendees actively participated in the seminar and asked various questions related to the topic.

The seminar on “Padartha according to Nyayavaishesika Philosophy” organized by the Department of Sanskrit at New Alipore College was very informative and provided a detailed understanding of the concept of Padartha and its significance in Nyayavaishesika Philosophy. Prof. Sujit Das’s talk was very engaging and insightful, and the attendees gained a deeper understanding of the topic. The seminar was a great opportunity for students and faculty members to learn from an expert in the field and enhance their knowledge of Sanskrit and Philosophy.

Gender Equality and Diversity in Education

Speakers: Prof. Kesang Negi, Department of education, Rajiv Gandhi Univesrity, Arunachal Pradesh, Dr. Sunil Kumar Baskey, Department of Education, rabindra Bharati University, Dr. TJMS Raju, Associate Professor of Education, Sikkim Univesrity.

On 27th July 2020, the Department of Education organized a seminar on “Gender Equality and Diversity in Education” with an aim to create awareness and discuss various issues related to gender and diversity in education. The seminar was attended by students, teachers, and scholars from different parts of the country. The speakers for the seminar were Prof. Kesang Negi from the Department of Education, Rajiv Gandhi University, Arunachal Pradesh, Dr. Sunil Kumar Baskey from the Department of Education, Rabindra Bharati University, and Dr. TJMS Raju, Associate Professor of Education, Sikkim University.

Prof. Kesang Negi initiated the seminar by discussing the need for gender equality and diversity in education. He emphasized that education is the foundation of every society, and gender equality is essential for a just and equitable society. He also discussed various policies and initiatives taken by the government to promote gender equality in education. Prof. Negi highlighted that there is still a long way to go to achieve gender equality in education, and everyone has a crucial role to play in it. Dr. Sunil Kumar Baskey, in his speech, talked about the importance of diversity in education. He discussed the different forms of diversity, such as cultural, linguistic, and religious diversity, and how it enriches the learning experience. Dr. Baskey also pointed out that diversity in education helps in breaking stereotypes and promotes empathy and understanding towards different cultures and lifestyles. He also talked about the challenges of promoting diversity in education and how to overcome them.

Dr. TJMS Raju focused on the role of education in promoting gender equality and diversity. He talked about the importance of inclusive education and how it can benefit all students, regardless of their gender, culture, or background. He also discussed the need for creating safe and inclusive learning environments, free from discrimination and harassment. Dr. Raju also shared his research findings on the impact of gender-responsive pedagogy on student learning and development.

After the speeches, there was an interactive session where participants asked questions and shared their opinions. The speakers responded to the queries and discussed various issues related to gender equality and diversity in education. The seminar was concluded by highlighting the need to continue working towards creating a more equitable and inclusive education system.

The seminar on “Gender Equality and Diversity in Education” was a thought-provoking and insightful event. The speakers shed light on various issues related to gender and diversity in education.

Urbanization of early India: A Few Case Studies

Speaker: Dr. Suchandra Gosh, Professor of History, University of Hyderabad

The Department of History and IQAC of New Alipore College in collaboration with IQAC of Kishore Bharati College organized a seminar on the topic "Urbanization of Early India: A Few Case Studies" on February 27th, 2023. The seminar aimed to discuss the urbanization process that took place in India during the ancient and medieval periods. Dr. Suchandra Gosh, Professor of History at the University of Hyderabad, delivered the talk at the seminar.

Dr. Suchandra Gosh began her talk by providing an overview of the urbanization process that took place in early India. She explained how the rise of urban centers was linked to the growth of agriculture, trade, and commerce. She then discussed a few case studies of early urbanization in India.

Case Studies:

Dr. Gosh discussed the urbanization of the Indus Valley Civilization and the town planning, drainage system, and architecture of the Harappan cities. She also highlighted the trade and commerce that took place in the Harappan civilization.

She then discussed the emergence of the capital city of Pataliputra in ancient Magadha and its administrative system. She also highlighted the significance of Nalanda, the famous Buddhist university, in the development of urbanization in ancient Magadha. Dr. Gosh also discussed the development of the Delhi Sultanate and the Mughal Empire and their impact on urbanization in medieval India. She highlighted the urban planning and architecture of the Mughal cities, such as Delhi and Agra.

The seminar provided an excellent opportunity for scholars and researchers to discuss and share their knowledge about the urbanization process that took place in early India. Dr. Suchandra Gosh's talk provided valuable insights into the various case studies of early urbanization in India. The seminar ended with a vote of thanks from the organizers. It was an enriching experience for the participants and helped in creating a better understanding of the urbanization process that took place in ancient and medieval India.

The webinar on online poetry reading session organized by IQAC and Department of English of New Alipore College in collaboration with Women Christian College on 8th August 2020 was an enriching experience for all the participants. The webinar was conducted through the G meet platform, which made it accessible to a larger audience.

The Chairpersons of the session were Prof. Sanjukta Dasgupta, a noted poet, writer, and critic, and Keki N. Daruwalla, a noted poet and novelist. They provided insightful inputs and expert guidance to the participants. The session started with an introduction by the Chairpersons, followed by a brief on the importance of poetry reading and its impact on the mind and soul. The participants were then encouraged to read their original poetry or a piece of poetry that they admire. The Chairpersons provided constructive feedback and tips to help the participants improve their reading skills. The participants were from diverse backgrounds and age groups, which added to the richness of the experience. They shared their thoughts on the poems, which resulted in lively discussions and debates.

The poetry readings covered a wide range of themes, including love, nature, social issues, and self-discovery. The Chairpersons encouraged the participants to read with expression and emotion, which added depth to the readings. The webinar was a success, and the participants gained a deeper appreciation of the art of poetry reading. The Chair-

On February 28th, 2023, an international webinar titled "A Glimpse into Astrophysics & Cosmology" was conducted, featuring four esteemed speakers in the field. The webinar was attended by participants from all over the world who were interested in gaining knowledge about the latest developments in astrophysics and cosmology.

The first speaker, Prof. Ajit K Kembhavi, Emeritus Professor and Former Director of Inter University Center for Astronomy and Astrophysics (IUCCA), started the session by discussing the importance of astrophysics and how it contributes to our understanding of the universe. He highlighted the role of IUCCA in promoting research in astrophysics and cosmology in India and the world. Prof. Kembhavi also spoke about some of the recent breakthroughs in astrophysics, including the detection of gravitational waves and the discovery of exoplanets.

The second speaker, Prof. Md. Mehendi Kalam, Dean of Faculty of Science and Technology at Alia University, presented his research on the properties of black holes. He discussed the fundamental principles behind black holes and explained how their study can help us understand the nature of gravity and the structure of the universe. Prof. Kalam also shared his insights into the recent advancements in black hole research and their implications for our understanding of the cosmos.

The third speaker, Prof. Andrew

Debenedicts, from The Pacific Institute for the Mathematical Sciences and the Department of Physics at Simon Fraser University, British Columbia, Canada, discussed the concept of dark matter and its role in shaping the universe. He explained how dark matter, although invisible to the naked eye, exerts a gravitational pull on visible matter and holds galaxies together. Prof. Debenedicts also spoke about the latest research in dark matter and its potential impact on our understanding of the universe.

The final speaker, Prof. Debades Bandyopadhyay, Senior Professor and Head of Astropractical Physics and Cosmology Division at Saha Institute of Nuclear Physics, Kolkata, discussed the origin and evolution of the universe. He explained how the Big Bang theory has provided a framework for understanding the early universe and how recent discoveries have helped refine our understanding of the events that followed. Prof. Bandyopadhyay also discussed some of the ongoing research in cosmology and the potential implications of these findings for our understanding of the universe.

The webinar concluded with a Q&A session, where participants had the opportunity to ask the speakers questions about their research and the field of astrophysics and cosmology in general. The webinar was informative and engaging, providing participants with a glimpse into the latest developments in astrophysics and cosmology, and inment of Philosophy in collaboration with IQAC of New Alipore College organized a state-level webinar on the topic "How to live a good life: Indian and Western Perspective". The webinar started at 11 am and was conducted through an online platform, which made it accessible to a larger audience.

The resource persons for the webinar were Dr. Aparajita Mukhopadhyay, a professor in the Department of Philosophy at Jadavpur University, and Dr. Urmi Ray, an assistant professor in the Department of Philosophy at Women Christian College. Both of them are renowned scholars in the field of philosophy.

The webinar started with an introduction by the organizers, followed by the resource persons' lectures. Dr. Aparajita Mukhopadhyay discussed the Indian perspective on how to live a good life, while Dr. Urmi Ray presented the Western perspective.

Dr. Mukhopadhyay highlighted the importance of spiritual and moral values in Indian philosophy and how they contribute to leading a good life. She discussed various philosophical concepts like dharma, karma, and moksha and how they are essential for a meaningful life.

Dr. Urmi Ray, on the other hand, discussed the concept of the good life in Western philosophy. She explained how various philosophers like Aristotle, Kant, and Mill have different views on what constitutes a good life. She also discussed the role of virtue, pleasure, and reason in leading a good life.

After the lectures, there was a Q&A session, where participants asked various questions related to the topic. The resource persons provided insightful answers and engaged in meaningful discussions with the participants.

opher, and yogi, who played a vital role in India's independence movement. Dr. Ghoshal shed light on Sri Aurobindo's philosophy of Integral Yoga and his emphasis on spiritual evolution as a means to achieve a higher consciousness. He then discussed Sri Aurobindo's concept of nationalism, which was not based on political or cultural boundaries but on a spiritual and cultural unity. He emphasized that Sri Aurobindo's vision of nationalism was inclusive and focused on the unity of all beings, transcending the boundaries of race, caste, and religion. He also touched upon the idea of "Life Ideologue," which Sri Aurobindo believed was the foundation of human progress and evolution. The seminar also covered the deconstruction of Aurobindo's ideology by analyzing the works of various scholars who have challenged his theories. Dr. Ghoshal provided an in-depth analysis of these critiques, highlighting their strengths and weaknesses. The seminar concluded with an interactive session where the attendees had the opportunity to ask questions and engage in discussions with Dr. Ghoshal. The seminar provided a unique insight into the philosophy of Sri Aurobindo and his contributions to the Indian nationalist movement. The seminar also highlighted the significance of incorporating spirituality and yoga into our daily lives to achieve a higher consciousness and evolve as better individuals.

the opportunity to explore the frozen wonderland. He shared his experiences of the trip, the challenges he faced, and the scientific observations he made. Dr. Choudhuri discussed the impact of climate change on the Arctic and the measures that need to be taken to preserve the fragile ecosystem. He emphasized the importance of interdisciplinary research and collaboration between scientists and policymakers to address the environmental challenges faced by the Arctic region.

Dr. Choudhuri's talk highlighted the importance of scientific research in understanding the complexities of the natural world and the urgent need to protect it from anthropogenic activities. He concluded his talk by stating that it is the responsibility of every individual to take action to mitigate climate change and protect the environment for future generations.

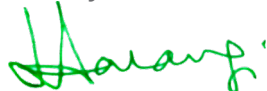

Elisabetta Marino delivered a keynote speech titled "Romantic Literature and the Environment". She discussed the relationship between nature and literature, particularly in the works of the Romantic poets. She argued that the Romantics viewed nature not only as a source of aesthetic pleasure but also as a living entity with its own agency and power. Marino discussed how the Romantics saw nature as a reflection of the human condition, and their works explored the themes of loss, transformation, and regeneration. She cited examples from the works of William Wordsworth, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, and John Keats, and discussed how their poems reflected their experiences and observations of the natural world. Marino emphasized the relevance of Romantic literature in the contemporary context, particularly in light of the environmental challenges faced by the world. She argued that the Romantic poets' view of nature as a living entity that deserves respect and protection is relevant today, and their works can inspire us to take action to preserve the environment.

On 12th November 2020, New Alipore College organized a webinar titled “National Education Policy 2020: Problems and Prospects.” The webinar was conducted on the Google Meet platform, and the speakers for the session were Prof. (Dr.) Biswanath Chakraborty from the Department of Political Science, Rabindra Bharati University, and Professor Asim Mondal from the Department of English, Ramkrishna Mission Residential College (Autonomous), Narendrapur.

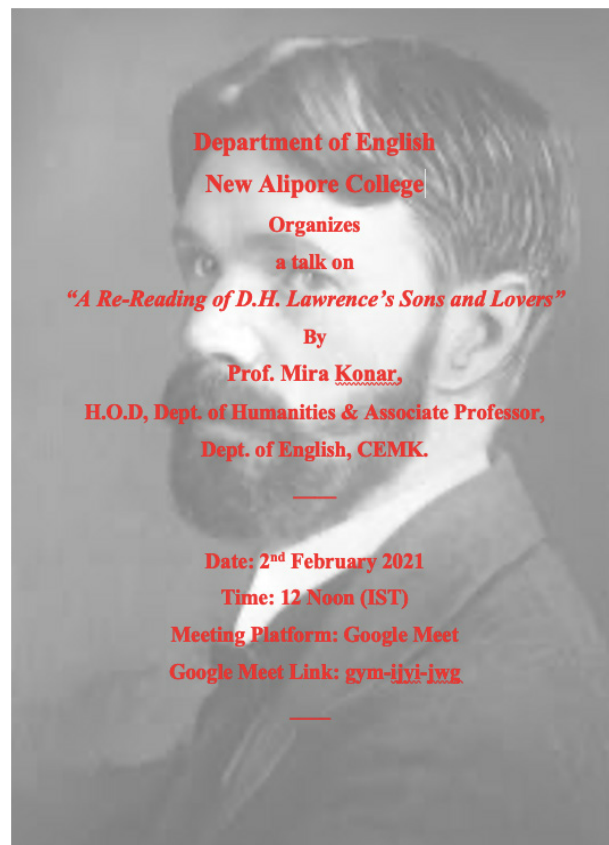

The first speaker, Prof. (Dr.) Biswanath Chakraborty, focused on the problems associated with the new education policy. He argued that the policy ignored the existing problems of education in India, such as the digital divide, the lack of infrastructure, and the low enrollment of marginalized communities. According to him, the policy did not adequately address the issue of the widening gap between the rich and the poor and could lead to further marginalization of the disadvantaged sections of society.

Professor Asim Mondal, the second speaker, discussed the prospects of the new education policy. He acknowledged that the policy had some positive features, such as the emphasis on multidisciplinary education, the promotion of regional languages, and the integration of vocational training. He also emphasized the need to implement the policy in a holistic manner and to ensure that it benefits all sections of society.

The session was followed by a Q&A session, where the participants raised several important questions related to the implementation of the policy. The speakers provided insightful answers and engaged in a meaningful discussion with the participants.

In conclusion, the webinar provided a platform for the participants to engage with experts and critically analyze the National Education Policy 2020. The session highlighted both the problems and prospects of the new policy and emphasized the need for a holistic approach to its implementation. The webinar was informative and thought-provoking, and it provided valuable insights into the future of education in India.

03 JULY | SEMINAR

Women’s Writing in Contemporary Times

Speakers: Dr. Miruna George, Stella Maris College, Chennai

The Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) of New Alipore College in collaboration with St. Cathedral Mission College organized a seminar on “Women’s Writing in Contemporary Times” as the first lecture of a lecture series. The seminar was held on the 5th of March 2023 and was attended by a large number of students and faculty members from both colleges.

The guest speaker for the seminar was Dr. Miruna George from Stella Maris College, Chennai. Dr. George is a renowned scholar in the field of women’s writing and has published several books and articles on the subject. Her lecture was centered on the theme of women’s writing in contemporary times, with a focus on the challenges faced by women writers and the impact of their work on society.

Dr. George began her lecture by providing an overview of the history of women’s writing and the evolution of the genre over the years. She highlighted the struggles faced by women writers in the past and how their voices were often silenced or marginalized. She then went on to discuss the current state of women’s writing and the challenges that women writers face in contemporary times.

Dr. George emphasized the need for women to speak out and tell their stories in their own voices. She also stressed the importance of creating a platform for women's writing and encouraging women to write and publish their work. She highlighted the role of technology and social media in enabling women to connect with each other and share their work.

Dr. George also spoke about the impact of women's writing on society and how it can challenge traditional norms and stereotypes. She cited examples of women writers who have used their work to address social issues such as gender inequality, discrimination, and violence against women.

The lecture was followed by a Q&A session where students and faculty members had the opportunity to ask Dr. George questions and engage in a discussion on the topic. The session was lively and insightful, with participants sharing their thoughts and opinions on the subject.

The lecture series promises to be an enriching experience for all those interested in exploring the world of literature and the arts. Participants to engage
